Stories of Our Lives

Bobbie June "BJ" Jarvis

Only one person remains alive of the feisty foursome - "friends for life" - two lesbian couples - who first met at the founding meeting of Lavender Seniors of the East Bay. Whether it was held in 1990 or 1994 (there seems to be some difference in memory), all seem to agree that it was held in a meeting room offered by Macy's in San Leandro's Bayfair Mall on a Tuesday evening in November.

"Meg and I had been together for a bit over fifteen years when we heard about this meeting for organizing LGBT seniors," BJ recalls. "Surprisingly, there were 18 of us at that meeting, including Ina Mae and Stella, who were to remain life-long friends beginning that night! Such a wonderful mix of teachers, health care professionals and social workers!"

Bobbie June "BJ" Jarvis - soon turning 82 - was born in Blanchard, Oklahoma, two days before Christmas 1933. She and her younger brother - now deceased - were basically raised by their father and paternal grandmother. Later on, she had a half-sister, Denise Ann, when her mother re-married in California. Her sister lives in South Carolina.

Bobbie June "BJ" Jarvis on a "flea-bitten horse", Blanchard, OK, age 5, 1938

BJ and her brother went to a small elementary school - East Valley View - where she graduated as valedictorian of her middle-school class. In high school, however, she wasn't as successful, since she didn't take some of her classes seriously. She failed in Oklahoma Civics, for instance, since she never opened up the book, relying exclusively on the ramblings of her instructor, which had little or nothing to do with the exams he gave. After graduating in 1951 from high school, she attended Heald Business School for one year to become an accountant. The following year, she came to California to stay with her mother and has remained a resident here ever since.

For over 25 years, she successfully operated her own business, BeeJay Business and Tax Service, in Fremont.

Though BJ occasionally dated men in high school and college, she realized by the time she was 19 that she was only attracted to women. She spent a year or two in the lesbian "bar scene", where she recalled the rule of thumb was you had to always be wearing two articles of women's clothing to outsmart the police, who were always "monitoring" the gay/lesbian bars, looking for ways to arrest gay people. So she made a point of always wearing a bra and panties before going out to the bars.

Her first semi-serious relationship was with a woman named Nona, who is now deceased.

"I thought Nona and I were relatively happy until the night in November 1973 that we attended a gay men's house party in San Francisco," BJ recalls. "I saw this beautiful woman there - we had both come with other women - but I brazenly - and secretly - asked her if I could get her number and call her after the holidays. She agreed.

"Not only was she lovely to look at, I simply loved hearing her talk. She had such a magnetic charm - charisma, I'd say - that I thought about her non-stop over Christmas and New Year's that year. Even before I made that first phone-call in January 1974, I had to confess to Nona that I was very drawn to this woman named Meg and would be calling her. I knew I couldn't keep such a secret from Nona.

"And the rest, as they say, was 'her-story'," BJ chuckled. "From our first date - attending a movie I'd bought tickets for - since a friend's daughter was an extra in it - neither Meg nor I could deny the magic that was to keep us together, 'til death do us part'. We made it official on March 4th, 1975, moving in together permanently - and again on August 10th 2008, when we combined our wedding with Meg's 70th birthday party in front of about 100 celebrating guests!"

Meg and BJ on one of their first Christmases together in the mid-1970s.

Margaret "Meg" Bruynell was born on 10th August 1933 in Haddon Heights, New Jersey. Meg became a psychiatric technician - working full-time for 29+ years at Agnews State Hospital, as well as part-time at Valley Medical Center in San Jose for many of those years. Partly because diabetes had become a late-in-life medical problem for Meg, she retired from Agnews and briefly became the office manager for BJ's tax business.

Meg and BJ on their wedding day, 10th August 2008

Because Meg's health continued to deteriorate, however, they decided to close the business in 2011 so that BJ could devote herself to caregiving for Meg. Unfortunately, Meg wound up hospitalized the first three months of 2011, being discharged for only one day when she died peacefully on March 24th, 2011, at home where she had chosen to share her life with BJ. Their friends were holding vigil with them when Meg died.

BJ had informally adopted her son, Jeff Jarvis, during her years with Nona. Initially, Meg was worried that she might not be enough of a co-parent - that he might really need both a mother and a father to develop well. But BJ convinced her that all he needed was a lot of love, which they were both able to provide in abundance. He has since blessed them with four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

"We met so many of our closest friends through the formation of Lavender Seniors back in the '90s," BJ recalled. "Besides our closest chums, Ina Mae Murri and Stella Armijo-Lopez - who, unfortunately, died in a tragic car-crash in 2010 - Barbara Konecny and Barbara Jue, John Elifson, Marvin Burrows and Frank Howell - some of whom are also gone now - virtually our entire friendship network began on that wonderfully fateful night at the Bayfair Mall!"

BJ vows that she will soon be getting back into the swing of things with Lavender Seniors. Meanwhile, we are all grateful for the time and energy that she and her fellow/sister pioneers contributed to the well-being of LGBT seniors in the East Bay.

Monthly Book Review: The Right To Be Parents: LGBT Families And The Transformation of Parenthood By Carlos Ball-New York University Press

Ball spans the last 40 years in the struggle of gay parents for their basic civil rights. In custody hearings lesbian couples were frequently overruled by homophobic judges.

Artificial insemination, rather than adoption, is frequently used by lesbians, as well as co-parenting lesbian and gay couples.

In the 1990s, courts began to rule in favor of gay parents. Evelyn Hooker, professor of psychiatry at UCLA, and Dr. Judd Marmor, a psychiatrist, gave major support. All the major psychiatric and psychological associations declared homosexuality to be normal. Gay fathers were also active in fighting for their rights. The National Gay Task Force emerged. In one case a gay male couple adopted two baby boys in spite of the neighbors objections.

Another significant issue just emerging is the rights of transgender parents.

This informative overview of LGBT families and their rights should be required reading for all active lavender folks.

-Frank Howell

Senior Center Without Walls Community Phone Calls

Join Roger Anunsen's "Cognitive Crew!"
Thursday's 1:00 - 2:00pm October 8 - December 10

Cognitive Activity Design explores the potential of applying emerging, evidence-based research in memory and aging to address real-life cognitive challenges. In this series, gerontology students will present 20 - 30 minute demonstrations of an innovative, brain-healthy activity designed as part of Roger's first-in-the-nation course, "The Aging Mind". Come with an open mind, this series is sure to be full of brain healthy surprises!

Roger Anunsen is co-founder and Principal at MINDRAMP Consulting and director of MINDRAMP's Brain Health Initiative.

Growing an Elder Community Mondays, Part I: 10:00 - 11:00am, Part II: 11:00am - 12:00noon

This is a two-part program. Participants may call into either one or both sessions. Part I: By speaking with others, older people discover what is beautiful about the latter stages of life, and how getting older, especially as a disabled or homebound person, can become getting riper and be a real contribution to our culture-at-large. This is an opportunity to experience what is noble about being human in this world. Part II: This segment can be experienced as a continuation of Part I or separately, and represents a chance to deepen our experience.

Sing! Saturdays 2:30 - 3:00pm

Join host Toni Tompkins and the SCWW Singers for a fun half hour singing Broadway show tunes, folk songs, and other favorites acapella. All voices are welcome! Song lyrics are available from the office.

View the Fall catalog of community phone calls here. To participate in these or other Senior Center Without Walls (SCWW) telephone activities, or to learn more about SCWW programs, call 877-797-7299 or email info@seniorcenterwithoutwalls.org.

Re: Natalie Zarchin

The many tributes to Natalie barely touched the effect she had in the LGBTQ community. If we are to recognize the pioneers of the LGBTQ activists through the decades she stood at the forefront. She not only was a champion for equality of gender, she also championed for equality of the aged. The spotlight she shed on the issues of our aging population should be a beacon for the younger generations to become activists on that matter. They will eventually grow old. What kind of a world would they like to face at that time of their lives? Will we have progressed beyond where we are today? Natalie's astute observations will be missed. Her thoughts and leadership on many fronts are honed by 92 years of living in an ever rapidly changing landscape of our world and the LGBTQ experience. Her wise words will be missed.

Third Friday Lunch Bunch: Friday, 16th October 2015

Senior Helpline Services & Life Elder Care

"Rides for Seniors / VIP Rides"

Because many seniors may experience periods of limited mobility, it is important to have alternatives for necessary rides to doctor's appointments, meetings, for shopping and other activities of daily life. Many LGBT seniors may have fewer family members nearby who can provide that service. So Victoria Williams of Senior Helpline Services and Kathleen Miller of Life Elder Care will be making a presentation on "Rides for Seniors" and "VIP Rides" at the Third Friday Lunch Bunch at North Oakland Senior Center, 5714 MLK Way (corner of 58th) in Oakland. A buffet lunch (vegetarian and non-vegetarian) is served at 12 noon, after which Victoria and Kathleen will present.

The Rides for Seniors program provided by Senior Helpline Services serves senior residents in seven Alameda County communities (Alameda, Albany, Berkeley, Emeryville, Oakland, Piedmont and San Leandro), while VIP Rides serves seniors in Fremont, Newark, Union City, Hayward and Castro Valley. Both programs are funded via Measure B and administered by the Alameda County Transportation Commission. The presenters will also discuss the Measure B rides programs available in Dublin, Pleasanton and Livermore.

This program is designed to fill a gap in mobility services for seniors who no longer drive and cannot access other forms of transportation. Unless they are able to use public transportation, paratransit, vans, or cabs that provide only curb-to-curb service, seniors often have difficulty in accessing medical care and obtaining basic necessities.

In our society, mobility = independence, so without a safe and available alternative to driving, the end result for seniors is often premature placement in long-term care facilities. Senior Helpline Services and Life Elder Care help seniors age in their own homes by providing one-on-one, door-through-door escorted rides at no charge.

Lavender Seniors attempts to alternate educational presentations with entertainment during its Third Friday Lunch Bunch programs at the North Oakland Senior Center. The September program included a "Broadway Sing-Along" and exercise-in-place activity led by Bruce Bierman of StageBridge.

Third Wednesday Lavender Seniors Film Series: 21st October 2015

"The Way He Looks "

This charming coming-of-age story takes place in 2014 Brazil (in Portuguese with English sub-titles). Our hero, Leonardo ("Leo"), a handsome teenager who was born blind, takes notes in the classroom with a Braille typewriter, which some of his cretinous classmates continue to make fun of. Leo and his best girl friend, Giovana ("Gi"), are practically inseparable, discussing such common topics of adolescence as when each will experience a "first kiss" (which Gi is happy to do with him, but Leo wants it to "mean something" and be with someone special, since Gi is his best friend, not a romantic interest). Though Leo continues to struggle for independence from his over-protective parents, as well as from Gi, she walks him home after school every day, though her house is several blocks in the other direction.

Enter gorgeous teenage heart-throb character, Gabriel, the "new kid" in class. Gi develops an instant crush on him, though Leo, of course, cannot see him to have an opinion either way. The threesome become fast friends and the outcome remains to be seen.

This delightful 2014 movie is based on a short film directed, written and co-produced by Daniel Ribeiro three years earlier (and a hit on the film festival circuit) called I Don't Want to Go Back Alone (Eu Não Quero Voltar Sozinho). The Third Wednesday Lavender Seniors Film Series will begin with a showing of that 10-minute short, followed by a brief discussion, then showing of the full 96-minute film, so attendees can get a sense of the evolution of a brilliant feature film idea. The same actors appear in both versions, which makes it even more interesting!

Lavender Seniors will provide popcorn, bottled water, Martinelli's apple juice and sparkling cider, plus some miniature Reese's peanut butter cups for an added treat this month. Following the 1-3pm screening at the 75-seat Thunderbolt Theater, there will be a brief discussion of the film and the issues it brings up for us as LGBT seniors. Evaluations have consistently requested that the discussion take place AFTER the credits have completed rolling (which makes some others impatient - can't please everybody all the time). Also, some attendees have requested there be an "intermission" mid-film for people to take bathroom breaks and gather up more refreshments, something we will try this time (to the annoyance of some, to be sure). A question on the merits of this "half-time" practice will be included in October's evaluation forms.

Thunderbolt Theater is part of the Marina Community Center, 15301 Wicks Blvd., San Leandro. For those using public transportation, take BART to the San Leandro station, where pick-up between 12:30-12:45pm can be arranged by e-mailing JohnDavid@lavenderseniors.org or calling 510-532-8951 at least a day in advance.

For those driving from the north, get off I-880 at Marina Blvd, turn right to the first traffic signal, turning left on Merced Street, which becomes Wicks Blvd after a couple of miles. The Marina Community Center appears quite quickly on the right after going over a bridge.

For those driving from the south, get off I-880 at Marina Blvd, turn left to the first traffic signal, then turn left on Merced Street, which becomes Wicks Blvd after a couple of miles. The Marina Community Center appears quite quickly on the right after going over a bridge.

For more information about the Marina Community Center, call 510-577-6080.

You are invited to a Memorial Celebration of the Life of Natalie Zarchin

Friends and family members of Lavender Seniors and LGBT rights pioneer, Natalie Zarchin, are all invited to gather on Sunday, November 1st, 1-5pm, to celebrate the life of this outspoken activist. It will be held at the Ed Roberts Campus, 3075 Adeline Street (opposite the Ashby BART station). Free parking at rear of building. This is an open and accessible venue. No admission fee.

In addition to making time for people to give testimonials and make tributes to Natalie, organizers are planning to have music and refreshments. OLOC will be organizing an auction of some of Natalie's pottery pieces, generously donated by her family.

The Pacific Center, where Natalie was a long-time participant - including most recently co-facilitation of Queerly Aging Lesbians - has generously donated the funds for rental of the facility.

Questions about, suggestions for and donations toward the memorial can be referred to Marjorie Larney (MLarney@gmail.com or 510-595-1615).

Main Participating Organizations: Pacific Center for Human Growth, Lavender Seniors of the East Bay, Older Lesbians Organizing for Change
