STORIES OF OUR LIVES

LESLEI ELAINE FETHERKILE

Though she was considered male at birth - and fathered several children - she knew from age 11 or 12 that she was meant to be a girl. In fact, her mother named her Leslie Elaine. Having spent most of her life thinking, feeling and acting like a female, it was only 80 years after that birth certificate was issued that Leslie Elaine actually transitioned to live as the woman she always felt herself to be.

Leslie, who turns 85 on the 16th of June, was born the "baby" of four on a farm outside of DuBois, Nebraska, in 1931. Unfortunately, her first-born brother, Lester, died in infancy nearly seven years before Leslie was born; the next two "senior" siblings were Sylvia (five years older) and Ivan (two years older).

"I was repeatedly told by my parents - particularly my father - that I was an unwanted child," Leslie recalls. "Whenever he was angry - which was often - he would tell me he wished I'd never been born, while he was horse-whipping me or beating me with a two-by-four that he kept in the barn just for those occasions."

The Fetherkile boys spent most of their childhood and teenage years doing chores on the farm (e.g., feeding and milking cows; harnessing horses for plowing, disking, dragging and harvesting the fields; feeding the hogs and chickens). Even their mother would spend much of her time riding on the back of the farm implements, lowering the drags and providing necessary weight to engage equipment with the soil. Only sister, Sylvia was spared the fieldwork, but was expected to be inside the house at all times doing the "women's work".

"He treated us like slaves from the time we could walk," Leslie recounts, "even insisting we come home immediately after school, rather than get involved in any extra-curricular activities like music or sports, which all three of us would love to have done! So none of us got involved with school, much less with the 'dating scene,' since we had no extra time whatsoever. Even doing schoolwork, we were only allowed to study late at night after all of the chores were done,
Many of Leslie's fondest memories of her childhood and youth were spent with her sister, Sylvia, dressed up in her sister's clothes, playing various gender-swapping games together.

"She didn't have a great wardrobe, either, because of our generally-low farm income," Leslie recalls, "but what she DID have was so much more exciting to me than the bib overalls and blue jeans that were available to me as a farm-boy!"

Through elementary school, Leslie and her siblings attended a one-room country schoolhouse with thirty other first- to eighth-grade students. After her father bought a ranch near the small village (population: less than 100) of Burchard in Southeastern Nebraska, Leslie attended and graduated from Burchard High School, which closed permanently in 1959 due to a decline in post-war enrollment.

"This is me at 15 running toward Burchard High School," Leslie recalls, peering through a magnifying glass. "People seeing this have said 'you run like a girl'- to which I respond 'that's because I WAS and AM a girl!'"

Leslie remembers receiving countless beatings and whippings from her father - for such serious offenses as crying or being caught dressing up in her sister's clothes - beginning at least at age 7 in Pawnee City, Nebraska. As a teenager, she recalls getting involved in at least one altercation during which Leslie intended to beat HIM to death with a 16" crescent wrench! That's when she knew she had to get out of there, escaping that troubled home life as soon as possible, before she or somebody else got seriously hurt.

"I was 16 years old when I graduated," Leslie reminisces, "and, luckily, my godfather - Uncle George, the husband of my Mom's sister - agreed to go down to the recruiting station with me, vouch for my being 18 years old and I was in the Army! Though it meant leaving behind the car I'd just bought and not saying goodbye to my siblings - particularly my beloved sister, my best friend - I just escaped that so-called life as quickly as I could!"

After a six-week basic training at Camp Atterbury in Indiana, 16-year-old Leslie was shipped off to post-war Germany, where she was initially a prison guard until it was discovered that she was fluent in German. In her childhood and youth, Leslie and her mother were the only people in the family who could communicate with their German-speaking grandparents. Now she was assigned the task of translating - both interpersonally and with documents.

"Though I enjoyed speaking German - particularly with the prisoners and their families - it soon became boring to spend so much time translating dull and painfully-detailed German documents," she recalls. "So I asked to be trained in and transferred to a munitions unit, where we were defusing 80mm weapons and disarming medium-sized German tanks. I subsequently was among the American soldiers assigned - during the division of post-war Germany among the four Allied powers - to explore and secure Hitler's 'Eagle's Nest' near Berchtesgaden in the Bavarian Alps. After going through the tunnel and confiscating various artifacts and documents, I subsequently shipped and donated them to the Smithsonian in Washington, DC."

It was during her time in Germany - still living as a male with the birth-name Leslie Elaine and being chided for that regularly by fellow soldiers - that she officially changed her name to Leslie Eugene to curtail the harassment. It cost $50 then; it would cost $350 now to change it back, so she's decided not to do that! It was also during this time that she met the woman who eventually became her wife and the mother of her children.

"I tried to fit into the role of man-soldier by changing my name to a man's name," Leslie recalls, "and by responding to this German girl's flirtations, the woman I eventually married. It was also during that time that - at the officer's club - I taught Germans and Americans alike how to square dance. I had learned how to be a square-dance caller when I was a teenager and that came in handy in this particular social context."

In 1950, Leslie and her pregnant girlfriend were required to be married several times in Germany. Then they had to repeat that process in the U.S. after Leslie sent for her wife and daughter a few years after her military discharge in 1953.

"We were married at the American consulate, the German consulate, the American church and the German church on both sides of the Atlantic," Leslie recalls. "Our first child was born in Germany, but I had to officially adopt my daughter after her mother and I were re-married in 1954 here in the U.S., in order for her to have my name!"

The marriage survived the birth of three children, Leslie's being committed twice in the mid-1950s by her wife and father into two involuntary hospitalizations and more than a dozen electro-convulsive ("shock") therapy sessions while the family was still in Nebraska, allegedly to eliminate Leslie's "sex-change" madness. Subsequently, her wife gave birth to a fourth child.

"My mother got me out of that first hell-hole hospital, coming to claim me the first time I was committed," Leslie recalls. "The police later came and took me from the VA hospital - arrested for being transgender - and I received the same treatment in the second hospital. So I 'escaped' to Iowa - where laws prohibited my wife and father from re-committing me as they'd been doing. I signed myself into an Iowa psychiatric hospital for two or three months (without seeing my kids, which was very painful to me) before deciding - for the last time - that I had nothing to be 'cured' of. I have, though, always continued having a psychiatrist to keep me balanced and secure in that decision."

Previously, Leslie had gone to the Police Academy in Omaha, spending four years as a beat cop before launching her career as a mechanic. In 1962, she found out she could get ten times the salary in California ($4/hr in Omaha; $40/hr in Concord). For ten years, she worked in the service department of a Concord car dealership, where she made enough money to buy her first California house, sending for her family in Omaha.

"We paid $20,000 for our first house in Concord," Leslie recalls, "and things went fairly smoothly for a few years, in spite of the strain my previous hospitalizations had put on me and my family. By 1970, however, I was desperate to start discussing my transition from male to female, started seeing a transition psychiatrist and began taking hormone-replacement therapy. Unfortunately, our divorce in front of a transphobic judge resulted in my losing the house and the car - keeping responsibility for payments on both, of course - plus paying child support for all four children until they were 18."

As a result, Leslie had to put her transition on hold, work three jobs to survive, changing career paths a couple of times. When she left the car dealership, she started a well-known automotive shop and car dealership on Highway 4. Subsequently, she bought a security-company conglomerate that served the Greater Bay Area.

"I had 20 vehicles, a very healthy monthly income, over 400 employees, all well-trained in security, escorting everything from rock stars to funerals, serving a wide area from Pacheco to Half-Moon Bay, from Sonoma to San Jose," Leslie recalls. "I decided that - since I couldn't do everything - I would take on two partners; one would staff the office; one would deal with sales; and I would handle the field. When I came home from a trip at one point, it appeared the partners had cleared out all of our accounts and disappeared - they have still not been found, as far as I know. I had to declare bankruptcy, sell my body shop and dealership on Highway 4 to pay off my debts and go find at least two or three jobs! So transitioning took a back seat once again."
In spite of all the adversity and stalling of her transition, Leslie finally began living fully as a woman five years ago at age 80. Since that time, she says her ex-wife and children have all disowned her.

"One son left a phone message for me, saying he never wanted to see or hear from me again," Leslie recalls, fighting back the tears. "My ex-wife told me that my other son never wanted to see or hear from me again. Once, when I was working on his mother's car a few years back, he knocked me off a chair and we really got into it - I beat the hell out of him - reminding me of unpleasantness with my own father, though I'd never laid a hand on my kids prior to that. And, finally, my daughter - now seriously ill on the other side of the country - hasn't spoken to me in a couple years."

Leslie stored all of her memorabilia, souvenirs, documents, photographs, etc., with one son, who now says he gave it all to the other son, who has made her treasure trove of material inaccessible. Thus, she has very few photos available from her childhood, from her military days and even her recent past.

"The only thing we've ever been given back from that stash is a ring that was important to me, something I gave to a very supportive friend," Leslie recalls. "She deserved at least that much for all of the wonderful attention she's given me over the years. Another friend will inherit this mobile home that I'm living in now, so she'll always have a place to live! Though I don't really know my kids or grandkids, I have very good friends like these two who make my life feel very rich indeed.

Leslie Eugene ten years before her transition, determined to unofficially reclaim her birth-name, Leslie Elaine

"I own only one flannel shirt now from my life as a man. Though I don't have the most beautiful clothes, when I walk down the street or even just sit in my living room, I finally feel totally complete, rather than like a half-person. Though I had to wait 80 years for it to happen, I'm finally the woman I was meant to be - and that's a wonderful feeling!"
Though Leslie is legally blind and has significant hearing loss from her time working with munitions, she has been an outspoken advocate for LGBTQ issues. Thank you, Leslie, for speaking out on behalf of yet another generation of young questioning and transitioning individuals who continue to come under fire in much the same way you did in your childhood, youth, young adulthood and even mature adulthood! Let's hope things will change dramatically and soon, so that they will feel respected, appreciated and whole at a much earlier age than you have!

Thanks, also, for being such an active participant and speaking out in support of Lavender Seniors of the East Bay, as you did so forcefully in the Bay Area Reporter back on 26th April 2012!

And finally, Happy 85th Birthday in 16 days! Enjoy the celebration!

Book Review:
The Wedding Heard 'Round The World: America's First Gay Marriage
By Michael McConnell with Jack Baker, As told to Gail Langer Karwoski

In the 1960s gay marriage was unheard of. Gay men were consumed with sexual freedom with no obligations. McConnell and Baker proclaimed their love for each other and support was world wide. They met at a Halloween party in Norman, Oklahoma. They were introduced by a loving friend who declared, "you two are destined for each other". Parents of Michael were totally supportive. He finally left the Baptist Church that preached hatred of gays. His parents demanded he see a psychiatrist. The doctor administred some personality tests and decided he was completely normal.
Jack was a member of the Air Force. His honorable discharge was changed to a general discharge. Michael was a librarian and Jack was a lawyer. Jack became a media champion for gay rights at Columbia University. Jack finally won his case against the Air Force and his honorable discharge was reinstated.

In 1971 Look Magazine ran an article, "The Homosexual Couple" about them. The same year the couple was officially married by a Methodist minister.

McConnell and Baker fought for legal recognition by the U.S. Supreme Court. They refused to hear the case (Baker vs. Nelson).

Oklahoma recognized their marriage which was a first in the country. What a joy to behold for any enlightened reader. It is a delicious shot in the arm for any true believer.

Lavender Seniors Film Series, Wednesday, 15th June, 1-3pm

"TOMBOY" [UN GARÇON MANQUÉ]

The 15th in Lavender Seniors Film Series is a lovely 2012 French film (with English sub-titles) describing beautifully the plight of "the new kid in town", particularly complicated because the 10-year-old "tomboy", Laure, self-introduces to the neighborhood kids as Mikael.

For much of the film, "Mikael" keeps the male personae secret from parents and adorable younger sister, Jeanne. When neighbor girl, Lisa - who has taken a major shine to "him", even initiating a lakeside kiss - comes to the door asking for "him", six-year-old Jeanne plays along, since this has happened before. Jeanne's threat to "tell Mummy" is tamed by "Mikael" agreeing to take Jeanne along to play with the other neighborhood kids.
Lisa blindfolding "Mikael" as she initiates their first kiss

Pre-pubescent gender confusion runs rampant throughout this 82-minute film, which has earned acclaim worldwide, including the Teddy Award at the Berlin Film Festival, the Golden Duke Award at Odessa Film Festival, and the coveted Audience Award at San Francisco's Frameline Film Festival. Zoé Herán, the lead, playing Laure/Mikael, was nominated for several Awards, including Best Leading Young Performer in an International Film, also winning Best Actress at New York's Newfest.

The film will be shown in the totally-accessible Lecture Hall of San Leandro's Main Public Library, 300 Estudillo Drive, San Leandro, from 1-3pm on the Third Wednesday, 15th June. It was unanimously agreed in the evaluation session (and on evaluation forms) after the last film ("Undertow/Contracorriente") that the film series should continue. The venue has been secured through the end of 2016, at which time Lavender Seniors must re-apply to use the space for another six months.

Lavender Seniors will provide popcorn, bottled water, Martinelli's apple juice and sparkling cider, plus miniature Reese's peanut butter cups. Following the 1-3pm screening, there will be a brief discussion/evaluation of the film and the issues it brings up for us as LGBTQ seniors and allies.

The library is a ten-minute (five-block) walk up Estudillo from the San Leandro BART Station. For those with mobility issues, pick-up from the San Leandro BART station can be arranged (12:30-45) by either e-mailing JohnDavid@LavenderSeniors.org or calling John David (510-532-8951) at least 24 hours in advance.

The AC-Transit 1R has a bus-stop at East 14th and Estudillo, which involves a 1.5-block walk up Estudillo to the library.

For people who are driving, the library is on Estudillo two blocks below Bancroft Avenue in San Leandro. It is accessible via either I-880 or I-580, as well.

From I-880, get off at the Davis exit and head east toward the hills. Davis eventually becomes Callan, which passes the north side of the library two blocks above East 14th.

Coming on I-580, get off at the Estudillo Exit (#31B) and follow that street until you reach 300 Estudillo.

There is ample free parking - some three-hour and some two-hour - at the library.
LAVENDER SENIORS CO-PRESENTING AT FRAMELINE FILM FESTIVAL

Four Free Tickets available for 18th & 20th June

The 40th Frameline International LGBTQ Film Festival in San Francisco has asked Lavender Seniors to co-present two documentary films at this year’s landmark showing of 155 films from 24 countries!

The first co-presented film, "The Joneses", will be shown at 1:30 on Saturday, 18th June:

THE JONESES
DIRECTOR: Moby Longinotto
Saturday, June 18th, 1:30 PM
Roxie Theater, 3117 16th Street, San Francisco

It isn't easy keeping up with the Joneses. A working-class family born and bred in the Mississippi Bible Belt, they are an uncommon clan with a unique set of challenges—which they meet with an innate philosophy that "family is everything." And this family sure is something.

At the heart of their story (both figuratively and literally) is sprightly Southern matriarch Jheri Jones, a trim, platinum blonde transgender woman with a bedazzled air of both brass and refinement. After marrying and raising four sons, she divorced and became her authentic self, J'heri, in her 30s and finally saved enough money to complete her gender confirmation surgery in her 60s.

Now 74, she lives in her tidy trailer park home with two of her grown sons, after years of estrangement encouraged by her embittered and religious ex-wife. Brad, the eldest, suffered brain damage at childbirth and, while functional, has significant cognitive disabilities. Trevor struggles to find his place and purpose in life while dealing with anger issues that ultimately reveal a deeply held secret. Trevor’s twin brother Trent, diagnosed with schizophrenia and autism, lives in a homecare facility nearby, while Wade is happily married with two teenage kids who have yet to discover their grandmother’s story.

In his feature documentary debut, Moby Longinotto gracefully embraces this family of outsiders who, despite all their struggles, always trust that "if there is enough love, you can overcome."

- Joanne Parsont

Board Chair, D'Anne Breutsch, will represent Lavender Seniors at this showing, giving a one-minute presentation on the mission of the East Bay organization.

The second co-presented film, "Conversations with Gay Elders: An Intergenerational Film Project," will be shown at 4pm on Monday, 20th June:

CONVERSATIONS WITH GAY ELDERS: AN INTERGENERATIONAL FILM
In this unique project-in-progress screening, documentary filmmaker David Weissman brings us inside both the stories and the unusual process that comprise his ongoing mission to capture the experiences of gay men of the pre-Stonewall generation. Now living in Portland, Oregon, longtime San Francisco resident Weissman—as in his previous films We Were Here (Frameline34) and The Cockettes (Frameline25)—is fiercely dedicated to listening to the voices and stories of a generation of gay men that is quickly passing. But in this project, after conducting his on-camera conversations with "gay elders," Weissman turns the filmmaking itself into an intergenerational collaboration by pairing each elder's footage with an editor from a much younger generation. The resulting filmed dialogues become an informal history as listened to and, in a sense, interpreted by a new generation of gay men.

Weissman’s focus is to create multiple in-depth individual character studies rather than a single feature film, and to amass a rich repository of these histories for future generations who won't have direct access to the men who lived them. This program will feature excerpts from four of the conversations shot thus far, selected by the young editors themselves. These excerpts include San Franciscans Robert Dockendorff (76) and Jack Lasner (87) as well as New Yorkers Gene Fedorko (72) and Daniel Maloney (77). Following the screening will be a discussion including director-producer Weissman, subjects Dockendorff and Lasner, and editors Alex Bohs, Aron Kantor, Jake Stein, and Ben Zweig.

- Peter L. Stein

Board Secretary, John David Dupree, will be representing Lavender Seniors at the showing.

Besides publicizing the showings to their constituents, each co-presenting agency is offered FOUR free tickets to each of those showings. These tickets will be offered to Lavender Seniors participants on a first-come/first-served basis. Those interested in seeing "The Joneses" on Saturday, 18th June, should contact D_Anne@LavenderSeniors.org; those interested in seeing "Conversations..." on the 20th should contact JohnDavid@LavenderSeniors.org. D'Anne's and John David's names will be put on the "will-call" packet of four tickets for their respective show times, so it is important that they know as soon as possible the names of people who would like to attend the films.

We are fortunate indeed to have one of the biggest film festivals in the world right here in our back yard. The Lavender Seniors Film Series picks up a number of the best films after each Frameline Film Festival and shows them to East Bay LGBTQ seniors and their allies on the third Wednesday of every month (see June film, "Tomboy" in story above).

LEGAL ASSISTANCE FOR SENIORS

A team from LASHICAP (Legal Assistance for Seniors / Health Insurance Counseling and Advocacy Program) will be on hand to provide LGBTQ seniors information they might need when charting the unfamiliar waters of the often-confusing legal or health insurance systems.

The team will explain the following regarding Legal Assistance available:

· The mission and funding of Legal Assistance for Seniors
· The subject areas in which LAS offers legal services
· Eligibility criteria for services

The team will explain the following regarding Consumer Fraud, particularly those scams targeting seniors, with tips for protection and prevention:

· Common scams and forms of fraud
· Practical tips on how to recognize scams and protect yourself
· Information on referral sources and where to get help

The LASHICAP team will include James Treggiari, Executive Director; and Elizabeth Combs, Staff Attorney.

James was a senior staff attorney at LAS since 2014 and a staff attorney since 2009. His primary areas of focus were elder abuse and conservatorship. He is a 2008 graduate of Golden Gate University Law School in San Francisco and worked as a social worker in Los Angeles and New Hampshire before law school. He also holds a master's degree in social work from UCLA. He is excited to continue serving the senior community in Alameda County in his new role as Executive Director of LAS.
Elizabeth is a staff attorney at LAS, working on elder abuse and guardianship teams. Prior to joining LAS, she practiced in a large firm in San Francisco. She earned her law degree from Golden Gate University School of Law and her undergraduate degree from California State University, Hayward. She was born and raised in Alameda County and lives with her partner in Berkeley, CA.

In addition, there is a possibility that a video team from Daily Kos (in their new Oakland offices since Christmas week of 2015) - billed on their website as "A Daily Weblog with political analysis on US current events from a liberal perspective" - might be on hand to interview and take photos/videos of Lavender Seniors participants. Headed by Elizabeth Strong, Video Editor, the group is working on a story on Lavender Seniors to be published on their WebBlog during LGBTQ Pride Month. Anyone interested in being interviewed might want to come early.

As usual, the Third Friday Lunch Bunch - beginning at noon - provides a free lunch, social interaction with other LGBTQ seniors and some kind of educational/informational or entertainment program afterward. The luncheon is served at the totally-accessible North Oakland Senior Center, 5714 MLK Jr Drive (corner 58th Street). Parking and entrance are at the rear of the building, formerly the site of Merritt College.

Lavender Seniors Goes to Washington!

CONGRESSIONAL LGBT EQUALITY CAUCUS INVITATION

The Congressional LGBT Equality Caucus - in conjunction with the House Democratic Caucus - has arranged a meeting of LGBT leaders from around the country in our nation's capitol on Thursday, 23rd June, and Lavender Seniors of the East Bay will be there!

Congresswoman Barbara Lee, representing California's 13th District - and a member of both caucuses - has invited Lavender Seniors to participate in the gathering, coinciding with June LGBTQ Pride Month.

The East Bay will be represented by Patricia Osage, Executive Director of LIFE Elder Care, the parent organization of 22-year-old Lavender Seniors since July 1st, 2014.

There are nearly 200 anti-LGBTQ "religious freedom" legislative bills meandering through state houses around the country, in addition to those percolating in Congress. For example, when the Oklahoma legislature re-convened in February, there were a record-breaking 26 anti-LGBTQ bills on the docket. Strategies for confronting this backlash nation-wide will be discussed during the meeting.
The LGBT Equality Caucus was formed eight years ago (4th June 2008) by out representatives Tammy Baldwin and Barney Frank. In the 113th Congress, there were 112 members (111 Democrats and one Republican!), an increase from 104 members in the previous Congress and only 91 during the 111th Congress. The caucus is co-chaired by the six openly gay LGBT Representatives: Jared Polis, David Cicilline, Sean Patrick Maloney, Kyrsten Sinema, Mark Pocan, and Mark Takano. Roddy Flynn serves as Executive Director.

The mission of the caucus is to work for LGBT rights, the repeal of laws discriminatory against LGBT persons, the elimination of hate-motivated violence, and improved health and well-being for all persons, regardless of sexual orientation or gender identity or expression. The caucus serves as a resource for Members of Congress, their staffs, and the public on LGBT issues. Unlike the Congressional Black Caucus, which admits only black members, the LGBT Equality Caucus admits any member who is willing to advance LGBT rights, regardless of their sexual identity or orientation.

Osage will prepare a "report-back" on the event for East Bay LGBTQ seniors and their allies for the July or August Lavender Seniors newsletter, Lavender Notes. Safe travels, Patricia!

Gay Pride Dance
Friday, June 17th, Hayward Senior Center

The LGBT Senior Senior Prom here last year was such a wonderful event. This one is less formal and will be a lot of fun. Another formal one will happen in December.

Get your tickets ahead and as soon as you can – not only will it save you money, it will help the committee to know how much food, etc. to order. They are planning a fun night and we want it to be a success and to encourage other senior centers to plan special events like this for us. -Beckie
Come join the City of Fremont Human Relations Commission in its 5th year of participating in the SF Pride Parade!

Have fun with us as we decorate the float on Saturday, June 25, 2016 or come walk with us on Sunday, June 26 and enjoy dancing in the streets!

For more information or to sign up please email mljohnson@fremont.gov or call 510-574-2040
